Using solar panels to deduce weather

Kasper Lynderup - 20105319
Timothi Hansen - 201303516
Rohde Fischer - 20052356

Master's Thesis, Computer Science

April 20, 2015

Advisor: Niels Olof Bouvin

AARHUS
UNIVERSITY
DEPARTMENT OF COMPUTER SCIENCE

Contents

1 Introduction

Photovoltaic modules (PV), commonly known as solar panels, works by having two silicon based semiconductors, namely a n-type and a p-type. The two semiconductors react when exposed to photons which is used to create electricity [Max20].

2 Related work

Bla bla bla

3 Acknowledgments

►Karl Fischer - chemist◄

4 Conclusion

►. . .◄

References

[Max20] Fiktivus Maximus. Photovoltaic. Unknown, 42 edition, 2020.